The K. P.'s and their families hold an enjoyable social at Castle hall last evening. The Smith & Corlies orchestra furnished the music for the pleasant dance.

Smith & Corlies' full orchestra will furnish the music for the dancing party given by the Order of Railway Conductors at the Quins's armory on Monday evening.

The C. & N. W. railway company will sell tickets to all points in California at the following rates: First class, $73.15; first class limited, $63.15; second class, $38.15.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shoomaker, of Center, was visited by death this morning, their only child, a baby only three months, being taken from them. The funeral will be held tomorrow.

A number of young ladies who have been attending school at Rockford and Madison are home to celebrate the 22d of February. One or two of them have brought schoolmates with them to help commemorate the day.

Three well known Janesville young gentlemen will receive their M. D. diplomas on Tuesday, from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Chicago.

Messrs. Charles E. Wintomute, T. W. B. Wiggins, and James Gibson.

City Attorney William Smith appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. Phelps pleading his own case. He was found guilty, and was fined ten dollars and costs.

After the polo game between the "leather pounders" and the "type stickers" to-night the first and second teams of the Janesville will cross sticks.

The second team is a stronger one than some of the league teams and a good game may be looked for. Both teams will appear in uniform.

Mr. J. B. Gray is meeting with good success in canvassing for Grant's Universal Atlas. His list of patrons includes many of our best citizens, who do not hesitate to pronounce the work the most complete of any in the market. Mr. Gray will remain another week, and will be pleased to exhibit the book to anyone in want of a complete atlas.

By special invitation of the pastors the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. to-morrow afternoon will be held at the Congregational church at 3:30 o'clock. Mr. Plan will be present and make an address on "The Glory of the Bible." The public is cordially invited. The theme is a favorite one with Mr. Plan, and the meeting will be of great interest and benefit to all who attend.

A special dispatch to the Milwaukee Sentinel, from Monroe, under date of last evening, says: To-morrow there will be shipped from this city seventy-six fine large work horses as ever were gotten together in Green county. The prices paid by the dealers, who represent a Milwaukee firm, were from $125 to $200. Over $11,000 was checked out of the local banks to pay farmers. One or two lots have preceded this one, and two or three car-loads more will follow. These horses are to be sent to Dakota.

They say that one of our amateur polo players had the misfortune to fall down the other day while skating at full speed and his impetus was so great that he slid over a rod on the subsequent pocket of his pants. He would have gone clear through the railing, if a well disposed splinter about two inches long hadn't stood in the way and impeded his progress. As it was he stopped suddenly, gave a surprised yell, and then grabbing his coat tails with both hands, made a rush for the dressing room, leaving a flag of distress about six inches long stuck on the end of the splinter. The injuries were not serious enough to keep him from walking home but if he ever plays polo again there will be a tin liver pal attached to the south end of his vest.

I was very sadly afflicted with rheumatism, suffering untold pain. Athrophors seemed to go directly where the pain was, and not only went there, but succeeded in drawing it away. I used only three bottles. G. W. Dove, new dealer, Vincennes, Ind.

The Weather.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 1 degree above zero. Clear with northwest wind. At one o'clock p. m. the register was 27 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy, with south wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 14 degrees below and 13 degrees above zero.

"Age cannot wither it, not custom state its infinite variety." Flesh is hardly hard to an ache or pain which cannot be cured by using Sassafras Oil.

It is painful and annoying to be disturbed in public assemblies by some one coughing when you know Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is only 25 cents.

Pretense & Evence will refund the price paid if Acker's Elixir does not relieve any skin or blood disorder. A new, thoroughly tested discovery.

Holiday goods and playing cards at Eldredge's.

New calicoes at 3 and 4 cents and the best at 5 cents, at Archie Reid's.

—City Clerk Chas. E. Church went to Milwaukee to-day to attend to some business connected with the rendition of the oratorio of "The Messiah," in this city by the local Choral Union.

—Dr. Charles E. Wintomute, who takes his diploma from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Chicago, on Tuesday, arrived in the city last evening, and will spend Sunday with his wife and parents.

—Miss Jessie Patton, one of the teachers in the public schools of Chicago, accompanied by Miss Nora Root of Hyde Park, and Mr. Edward Wheeler, of Boston, arrived in the city last evening, and are the guests of Miss Patton's parents, Judge and Mrs. L. F. Patton, of the third ward.

—Hon. Andrew Barless returned from St. Paul to-day with a toboggan under his arm. He gives a vivid description of the ice carnival and especially of the coasting, which he enjoyed. The ice palace stood the warm weather remarkably well and is still an attractive feature in the programme.

—Messrs. Frank Hoggoboom and Sam Lightbody, who have been in business at Campbell, Minn., for several years, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon, and will remain a few days visiting old friends. They have closed their business at Campbell, and will soon engage in business at Waboo, Kansas. The young gentlemen will have the best wishes of their many friends in this city.

What Shall Be Done With the Tramps?

Within the last few years there has sprung up throughout the northwest a class of beings who in lieu of a better name, have been quite appropriately designated "tramps," and whose numbers appear to be increasing with each recurring winter season. An inquiry into the character of these nomadic wanderers will reveal the fact that the great majority of them are young, able bodied men, ranging in years from sixteen to thirty, and who, judging from their appearance, are abundantly able to provide for themselves, had they the inclination to do so.

The rank and file of this great army is chiefly composed of young men who are employed on the railroads or in navigating the lakes in the summer season, usually spending their money as fast as they earn it, or if they save any portion of it, repair to the large cities when operations cease in the fall, and in a few days or weeks spend it in drunkenness, sensuality and riotous indulgence, and soon find themselves without food, shelter or money, and at a season of the year when it is difficult or impossible to procure employment. The only alternative offered to the tramp in this state of affairs is either to stay where he is, be convicted of vagrancy and sent to the work house for a period of from sixty to ninety days to earn the bread he eats by hard labor, or to board freight trains and be carried to some of the smaller outlying cities, county seats, where the county jail abounds, and where the work house is not an established institution, where he may pass the winter free from care, without exertion, securely sheltered from the barren blasts and chilling blizzards, and be furnished with wholesome food in sufficient quantity, without money and without price, and all at the expense of the honest taxpayer.

To the tramp the county jail is a city of refuge, the Mecca of his pilgrimage; and to pass the winter within its hospitable portals, the height of his ambition. He never wanders far from either the railroad or the county jail, for why should he? The one furnishes him with free transportation, the other with necessary food and shelter. He well knows that if he can reach a county seat that there will not be wanting a friendly policeman to lodge him in jail, or a police magistrate to sentence him to confinement therein for the next morning. No reflection is here intended upon the officers of our own city; it is the custom which generally prevails throughout the country to both we allude. It is well known that both our municipal judge and city marshal, who are in no way dependent on the fees arising from tramp litigation (both officers being salaried) for their remuneration, discourage in every way in their power the arresting and imprisoning of these burdensome visitors. However, some of it is necessary; for when a tramp reaches the city in cold, stormy weather, without food, shelter or necessary clothing, the jail is the only place provided to keep him from perishing; and if the officer refuses to arrest him for vagrancy, he will watch his opportunity and steal some articles of trifling value and be arrested and sentenced for larceny. This being the state of affairs the question arises what is the remedy and how can it be applied? How can the taxpayers of this county be spared the burdensome and unjust expense of providing food and shelter for these vagrants? How long is this method of dealing with tramps to continue? To an impartial observer it would seem that the difficulty lies in the fact that there is no work provided for these sentenced for vagrancy. The county board, actuated no doubt by false ideas of economy, have failed to furnish any kind of work at the jail and consequently it is anything but punishment for a vagrant to be sentenced there during the winter season. Nothing in our opinion would so tend to discourage tramping and vagabondage as to have stone yards, treadmill or similar institutions established in our jails, where compulsory labor would be exacted of all those sentenced for vagrancy. The labor during the summer season would be more useful to the earnings and more apt to give saloons a wide berth if he had visions of the treadmill and stoneyard before his mind as a probable result of improvidence. The attention of the county board is earnestly called to this important matter, for so long as tramps are furnished with free board and lodging during the inclement winter season, so long they will continue to infect a long suffering community with their unwelcome presence.

OUR CITY SCHOOLS.

An Adjourned Meeting of the School Commissioners.

Examination of Teachers for First, Second and Third Grade Certificates.

An adjourned meeting of the board of education was held last evening at the common council chamber, all the commissioners being present except President St. John.

Commissioner Miner was chosen president pro tem.

A number of bills were read and referred to the finance committee.

The application of Miss Anna E. Tesson for a position as teacher in the public schools was read and placed on file.

Superintendent Keyes presented the following as a supplement to his report presented at the last regular meeting of the board:

To the Hon. Board of Education, I desire to offer as a supplement to my report upon the examination and certification of teachers the following, and to commend it to your consideration with a view to its adoption: "The diploma of the Janesville high school shall be accepted by the board of education as a first grade certificate, good for one year from the date of its acceptance. Any holder of such diploma who shall have taught successfully for one year in the schools of this city, may on the recommendation of the superintendent and clerk, have such diploma counter-signed by the president of the board of education, thus making it a certificate which shall entitle the holder to further examination while in the service of this board."

Respectfully submitted,

C. H. Keyes,

Supt. City Schools.

Commissioner Bowles moved that an examination of all teachers in the service, except those holding certificates that exempt them from such examination, be held during the spring vacation, for first, second or third grade certificates, to be issued by this board. Adopted.

Commissioner Bowles moved that the supplementary report of Superintendent Keyes on the examination of teachers, be removed and laid over to the next meeting for action. Adopted.

Commissioner Richardson, from the finance committee, reported favorably on a portion of the bills read by the clerk, and recommended that orders be drawn on the treasurer for the respective amounts. Adopted.

Commissioner Richardson moved that the bill of Mr. Cronse be laid over until the next meeting for further investigation. Adopted.

At this point President pro tem Miner being obliged to retire, Commissioner Richardson took the chair.

On motion of Commissioner Bowles the clerk was instructed to officially notify the common council of the vacancy existing in the board by the death of the late Commissioner-at-Large M. O. Smith. Adopted.

Commissioner Bowles moved that the clerk and Superintendent Keyes be appointed a committee to engage a suitable hall or room for holding the evening sessions of the city teachers' institute, to be held in this city April 10th, 11th and 12th, 1885, and that the committee be empowered to engage the room or hall. Adopted.

Commissioner Wilson moved that the superintendent be authorized to purchase a Latin dictionary for the use of high school pupils. Adopted.

On motion of Commissioner Wilson the board adjourned.

IN ANOTHER LIGHT.

A Comment on the Auction Evil.

One of our exchanges in a paragraph on the traveling auction stores says: "It is an open question whether the sanctioning of auction sales which come under the head of foreign importations, is permissible or profitable to the business interest of a town. If a firm doing business in a neighboring city are unable to dispose of their goods in the usual way, why should they be palmed off on a community with whom they are not identified and have no interest in common? But there is another side to the question. We have considered the matter in every light and often wonder how the home printer and publisher of a live journal wide awake to the interests of his locality, commercial and industrial, is to thrive when the merchant and other business men give their orders for bill heads, letter heads, cards, catalogues, etc. (of an inferior quality of stock and work) to tramp printers from the city. When the tables are turned on this class of business men and they are quailing under a like unfair competition they expect and look for their home paper to come to their aid. Then when times are again prosperous and the merchant's supply of stationery runs low, he straightway calls on the itinerant who, located in the back room of the third floor in some building, is running a small office, seemingly for fun. When the job is finished he very probably finds that it is inferior in many respects, and therefore he says hard things of the whole printing fraternity, but still, every time that such supplies are wanted the programme is repeated from one end to another. Shouldn't there be some consistency in such things?"

A Spelling Match.

Yesterday afternoon the scholars of the High School and picked scholars from the grammar schools, engaged in a spelling contest in the High School room. It was thought that the grammar school pupils would be too much for their opponents, this being one of their everyday studies; but it proved to be a mistaken one, as the honors were all taken by pupils from the High School department. The list of two hundred and fifty words proved a puzzle for many, and only eighteen words contained less than fourteen misspelled words. The standing was as follows:
